LIQUOR CARBONIS DETERGENS

Concentrated Solution

[Extract from the Lancet, Dec. 22, 1866.

Liq Carrons Bettergens—We are very sceptical of the value of aw rome, ies, and it was in a spirit facepticism that we tried the liq. carbonis detergens. It is represented to be a concentrated alcohole solution of the constituents of coal tar, and to contain all the active ingredents of the tar, to wit, bettering application, makes a durable emulsion. In which the tar remains in a state of fine suspension, almost equivalent to solution. Our therapeutical experience of the oreparation is very satisfactory indeed. In our hands it has been a most effective agent in the case of various skin diseases, especially of the obronic eczematous class; and one case of psoriasis which had resisted all other kinds of treatment speeddy got well under the application of the liq. carbonis detergens. We settem it a very valuable arbition to our list of skin remedies, and worthy of a very extended trial by the profession. In the above classes of disease, and in various others, such as tetid ulcers, etc., the preparation is put into the form of soap. [Extract from the Lancet, Dec. 22, 1866.

Water Supply. There have lately appeared in our columns several letters grappling with a question that must, sooner or later, be dealt with in practice: that of the necessity of an increased water supply for Victoria. One of these, written by a civil engineer of reputation, although our mind has some little difficulty of at grasping the practicability of bold conceptions, is at least worthy of consideration on account of the experience and status of the writer. But in whatever way the engineering difficulties are to be met, there is no doubt that an urgent want exists for an ample and pure supply of water; and that considering the physical geography of the surrounding country and the numerous chain of lakes in the immediate vicinity of the town, the problem is not a difficult one to solve. As regards both drainage and water supply, the two most important elements of a good sanitary condition, the town of Victoria is sadly deficient. There is no main drainage, and a considerable portion of the water supply is from wells into which, owing to inefficient drains and cesspools, all sort of organic impurities of the most loathsome kind find health of a community, and although not always apparent to ordinary observers, yet often work considerable though unexpected evil? As in towns situated much under the same condition as this, where accumulations of decomposition have been going on for years, disease has suddenly broken out and devastated the place. No doubt the climate is a very healthy one, and owing to the extent of space over which the town is distributed, the sparse population and the crevices and fissures in most houses, good ventillation goes on and wafts away the impurities that everywhere abound. Indications, however, are now presenting themselves of the insalubrious agencies that exist in a high death rate amongst children, an unerring test both of the morality and sanitory condition of a community. Lately there has prevailed amongst children a disease known in America as "Infantile Cholera," and which has caused several deaths. This disease is almost unknown in Europe, but prevails endemically in the Middle and Western States of America during the summer, recurring with uniform seasonal regularity, and being the chief cause of the loss of life amongst infants in these towns. All the best American authorities agree that it is a disease caused by decomposing filth, and abounds where the atmos phere is poisoned by cesspools and sewers, and that the greater the insanitory condition of a locality the greater its prevalence, being bred by certain casual factors, and herding in the same places with diptheria and putrid sore throat. The remedy for this state of things is regular drains and water supply to flush them; and if a thorough system of drainage were once established all shallow wells would cease to exist. The present water supply, though in winter, when Harris' pond is not had recourse to, is fair of its kind, is not sufficient for the wants of the community, as taking the population on an average at 4000, only seven gallons can be supplied to each in so as to flush drains, fire purposes, baths, ships, &c., at least forty gallons ought to be the estimate. In order to achieve a permanent purity of source as well as sufficiency of supply, one of the neighboring lakes must be had recourse to. By capital thus judiciously expended a higher standard of public health will be obtained. We have no doubt, also, that a good investment might also be made, as it is proverbial that the shares of a water company and a cemetery of all investments pay best; and if the last was also entered into, the sanitory blot of having a graveyard in the midst of a community would be wiped out.

The Queen's Speech read at the prorogation of Parliament contains the following paragraph on this subject: "The act for the union of the British North American provinces is the final accomplishment of a scheme long contemplated, whereby those colonies, now combined in one domin ion, may be expected, not only to gain additional strength for the purposes of defence against external aggression but may be united among themselves by fresh ties of mutual interest and attached to the mother country by the only bonds which can effectually secure such important dependenciesthose of loyalty to the Crown and attachment to British connection." And we are pleased to learn from the same Speech that her Majesty has concluded a postal convention with the United States of America, whereby the rate of postage between the two countries will be diminished by one-half, and further arrangements are in progress for increasing the intercourse between this country and the continent of North America.

A HORRIBLE BREAKFAST .- The break fast eaten by between 400 and 500 people of Wurzburg, in Bavaria, July 5th, will long be painfully remembered. In German cities the bread the people consume is rarely made at home, but is bought at the baker's shops. Of late years a par-ticular kind of bread has come very much in vogue for breakfast It is made in the form of rolls shaped like little horns, of about three ounces weight. Most of those who in Wurzburg, on the morning in question, ate that kind of bread, had been provided from a certain baker's shop near the cathedral. After cating they suddenly became sick. They felt a burning in the stomach, vomited, and fell off their chairs in a complete state of prostra tion. This calamity being known, the baker's shop was closed, and his customers in and out of town immediately warned not to use his articles. An examination showed that all of the so-called "horns," and some other kinds of black bread had been poisoned with arsenic Not a vestige of the poison was discovered A favorable report has seen to the Nowland's creek diagnings, Armidale. A quartz reef was recently discovered at the Roman Crtholic burying-ground at some of the "horns" upwards of four time of assenie were found. It was evin the raw material at the shops; flour, dent that the poison had been mixed with the dough, and not with the original material. The whole community was terror-stricken, of course. From two to three pounds of arsenic had been employed, but no clue to the perpetrator could be obtained, according to our latest advices, and it seems the Bavarian authorities, who at once took the mitter in hand, rather despair of finding him out. Luckily, not one had died among the whole number poisoned.

THE PERILS OF SURGERY .- A letter from Kehl, in the Courrier du Bas Rhin, mentions the death, a few days back, at Heidelberg, of a surgeon named Weber, and two of his assistants under very painful circumstances. All three had been to a country house in the neighborhood to attend two children attacked by diptheria. In the case of one of them, the operation of tracheotomy was found necessary, and M. Weber, whilst engaged in performing it, unfortunately allowed a small clot of blood to fall into the child's windpipe. In the absence of a proper instrument for extraction, he sucked the wound to get out the foreign substance. Having failed, the others in succession applied their mouths to the wound, and at last succeeded in their object. They, however, all caught the maladay, and suc-cumbed to it in the course of six hours. Prof. Weber was only thirty-nine years of age, but had already acquired a high re-

Having descended to the platform he sat down in a chair until the train passed on, his only inquiry being as to the state of the weather, and he was then carried across the line on another chair brought for the purpose. With the assist-ance of his valet he walked the short distance to his carriage, which was in waiting for him, and, having been assisted inside, he was driven to Brougham Hall. Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Fills for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it, for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your Fills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, Physician and Midwife, Boston.

Inston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to deanse the stomach and expel worms. From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb 4, 1856.

Dr. Aver. Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartie we possess.
They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

From the Rev. Dr. Hanckes, of the Methodist Epis.

PULASKI HOUSE, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1556.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on exeruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.
